GRAPHIC VIEWS OF FLOOD SCENES IN JOHNSTOWN AND PITTSBURGH

TOLL AT WHEELING 13; OTHER RIVER TOWNS INUNDATED

Fear Felt Death List Will Mount to New Heights as Survivors Report Relatives Missing in Various Areas.

Copyright 1936, Associated Press.

The toll of death pushed toward 100 today in the most disastrous flood devastation in the history of the eastern states.

The Ohio river plunged wildly down its broad valley into Ohio and West Virginia, sweeping death and destruction before it as it inundated Wheeling, W. Va., and poured over its banks to cover the business district of Wheeling with 10 feet of water to submerge populous Wheeling Island and to threaten dozens of towns with its angry crest.

The latest list of dead by states placed the toll at 76, but fears were held for dozens more. These fears were intensified throughout the forenoon by families in Johnstown and other areas who reported relatives missing.

The dead by states yesterday and today, were: Pennsylvania, 45; West Virginia, 13; Virginia, 1; Vermont, 4; North Carolina, 2; Georgia, 2; Maryland, 3; Massachusetts, 3; New Hampshire, 1; New York, 1.

Flood and explosion claimed 13 lives in Wheeling alone.

The Potomac surged toward the Chesapeake bay on the worst rampage on record threatening the national capital with its maddening shrines.

Delaying his departure for a Florida vacation, President Roosevelt summoned Secretary of War Dorn and other aids to the White House for a conference on handling all possible help in stricken communities.

Wheeling Business Area Inundated

By The Associated Press.

WHEELING, W. Va., March 19.—Torrents of the angry Ohio river engulfed Wheeling's downtown area with seven feet of water swiftly claimed 13 lives and swept down on dozens of other West Virginia and Ohio cities today.

Two others were drowned at Wheeling, upstream from Wheeling and panicky survivors, stranded high in their homes screamed for help throughout the night.

Hundreds were marooned in Wheeling houses and business places as the flood waters their devastating invasion of the Pittsburgh area accomplished, moved in.

River Flood Hardest Hit

The flood struck hardest at Wheeling Island—in the middle of the Ohio river—and police and volunteer firemen rode a fleet of small boats to help the stranded inhabitants to highlands.

Many people were aided from second story windows.

Police Chief J. H. Stanley told the Associated Press, evacuation work went on rapidly overnight but that nine people owned automobiles, to escape the flood. Four others were killed in an explosion in a house.

W. H. Yanke, a reporter for the Wheeling News, over the telephone described scenes of destruction and terror.

Everything is covered up," he said. "Over on Wheeling Island, the place is deluged and people are trying to escape the danger in the upper floors. The Coast Guard boats over there were carried away and crashed against a drug store and the pier of a bridge.

House Hit Tremendously

"There are a couple of houses tumbling against the tapers, maybe one of them is mine—I live only four doors from the tapers."

Motherboards are speeding out as quickly as it is possible carrying the stranded from second story windows."

On all sides the waters can be seen. They were pushing into Wheeling, a suburb two miles from the inundated downtown section.

Creeks and rivers swollen to flood stage in the mountains have strewn debris along the countryside. The Ohio river in carrying away the tremendous overflow that breached Pittsburgh and scores of other cities and towns in western Pennsylvania.

Home inhabitants moved to the streets.

The toll is only about a quarter.

BRADEN DENIES MURDER GUILT

On Stand as Trial Nears End, "Bullet Test" Complicates Case

Grover Braden testified in common pleas court this morning in his defense against the charge of murdering James P. Bennett on Dec. 12, 1931, and denied he had any part in the crime.

As the third day of his trial was interrupted at noon for a recess it appeared almost certain the case would go to the jury this afternoon.

Braden denied being implicated in the crime and declared he never made statement as contained in a purported confession to police. His appearance on the stand was the highlight of the morning session.

Outstanding in yesterday afternoon's session was testimony of Police Chief William E. Marks that he doubled the bullet sent to a Cleveland ballistics expert to the one that killed Bennett. He expressed the opinion that the bullet examined by the expert and exhibited in court yesterday is not as marred as the fatal one handed to him on the day of the murder.

The state contends the fatal bullet was confused with test shots made by Marion police to compare with the one that killed Bennett.

When questioned on the stand by his attorney Braden testified he was at home in a house immediately west of the Bennett residence on Herman street at the time of the shooting. He asserted he did not give a purported confession of the crime to police and said his corrections written with a pen on the typewritten statement exhibited by the state as his purported confession, were made by him under pressure. He said police insisted that he make minor changes in the statement with a pen even though he never signed it. He said he finally penned the changes after police had held him without food or rest approximately 18 hours. He asserted the police repeatedly told him that writing

"We have been forced to do what we did March 7," Hitler's envoy said emphatically and Germany never would have signed the Locarno pact had it been aware of the doubtful moments to follow.

"If Germany had known the true facts, she would not have signed it," he insisted. "No nation pointed out how this treaty was going to be misused."

League Condemns Nazis As Peace Pact Breakers

Council Unanimous in Decision Germany Violated Two Treaties by Rearming Rhineland.

BY CHARLES E. SMITH.

Copyright 1936, Associated Press.

LONDON, March 19.—The council of the League of Nations condemned the German government under Reichsfuehrer Hitler as a treaty breaker today.

The vote of the assembled powers was unanimous.

The league members decided that Germany had violated both the Versailles and Locarno treaties when she moved troops into the Rhineland which had been ordered demilitarized at the end of the World war.

German Defends Action.

The condemnation came a few hours after Gen. Joseph von Ribbentrop, special ambassador of Hitler, had stood before the members and argued that the German course of action in the Rhineland had been justified by France's military assistance pact with Soviet Russia.

A ranging of 275,000,000 people against the Germans by the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance pact directed only against Germany," von Ribbentrop asserted, caused the relief to occupy the Rhineland in violation of the Locarno pact and Versailles treaty.

Says Action Forced.

"We have been forced to do what we did March 7," Hitler's envoy said emphatically and Germany never would have signed the Locarno pact had it been aware of the doubtful moments to follow.

"If Germany had known the true facts, she would not have signed it," he insisted. "No nation pointed out how this treaty was going to be misused."

KIRTS APPEALS FOR POLICE JOB

Right of Chief Marks To Remain Is Issue Before Civil Service Board

Louis P. Kirts, one of four city patrolmen dismissed last Wednesday night as part of city officials' economy plan, today brought action before the city civil service commission to regain his position.

Kirts action before the commission is in the form of an appeal from his dismissal by John J. Sullivan, city director.

The appeal was filed in compliance with the city civil service commission by J. W. Jacoby, attorney for Kirts.

While the appeal makes no mention of Chief W. J. Marks it is he who will be affected should Kirts be successful in his action to regain his job. The action reopens the question of whether the last four men from the department or the last 10 patrolmen were the ones to be dismissed.

The city council is reducing the number of patrolmen from 12 to eight.

Commission on Kirts Ruling.

Kirts was dismissed along with Clyde Hardie, Homer C. Ormiston and Louis C. Cunningham by Director Smith after the state civil service commission advised city solicitor Ralph P. Cahart that the last four patrolmen to join the force were the ones to be dropped.

In his appeal Kirts states that he was the fifth man on the force in point of seniority and contends that the four youngest employees in point of service should have been dropped.

Had this plan been followed in reducing the force, Chief Marks would have been retained as he is fourth in line and next after Kirts.

The appeal contends that since only four men were laid off Kirts' dismissal was contrary to provisions of section 46-17B of the general code which provides that in case of a reduction in a police force the youngest employees in point of service shall be laid off.

The case was placed before the civil service board.

Pittsburgh Begins Relief Activities as Flood Recedes

Copyright 1936 Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 19.—America's steel capital threw all the resources into relief and rehabilitation work today as a great flood rolled back leaving six known dead and damage of more than $25,000,000.

The renowned golden triangle, wealthy business center, was under martial rule with more than a thousand national guardsmen holding back all unnecessary traffic and keeping out the populace.

By proclamation of Mayor William M. McNaught it was a legal holiday and the business section was almost deserted.

The Duquesne Light Co. announced restoration of power to two water pumping stations today and said all others would be operating by the end of the day.

The company also said electric service will be restored to hospitals.

If sufficient power can come into Pittsburgh through lines of the West Penn Power Co., dairies and bakeries will be put back on the lines.

The busiest place in Pittsburgh was the Red Cross headquarters, where thousands of couriers sped to inundated sections to give help.

Hundreds of cars bearing the Red Cross flag darted all over the metropolitan area, particularly in the heavily populated north side where hundreds were homeless or waiting patiently on upper stories for the waters to go back.

The greatest flood in Pittsburgh's history hit 45.9 feet, 20.8 feet above flood level, before the backward movement began. By daylight the stage was down four feet and falling at the rate of half an inch an hour.

A LIGHT SMOKE

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

Luckies are less acid. For hundreds of years, tobaccos were selected—and gradations in flavor secured—by the roughest sort of rule of thumb methods. Hence, one of the most important innovations made by the Research Department was provision for chemical analysis of selected tobacco samples before purchase:

the resulting reports offer the professional buyer an accurate guide and reinforce his expert judgment based on the senses of sight, smell, and touch. Thus extreme variations toward acidity or alkalinity are precluded by such selection and subsequent blending.

Waldo Man Hurt as Car Hits Tree

WALDO O. March 19—Clark Hiesley, Waldo filling station operator, suffered three broken ribs and a new car he had driven only 200 miles was badly damaged in an accident caused by a icy pavement last midnight in Waldo.

Mr. Hiesley said he was returning home from Marion and that on route the Waldo telephone office car skidded on a tree and struck a tree.

A light coupe which it was reported belonged to a C.C. worker was found this morning in front of the Williams home on the main street. The car apparently had skidded on the ice at a junction and run into a tree. The steering wheel was damaged. It was towed to a Norton garage shortly before noon.

BOILING OF WATER URGED BY SIFRITT

Warning issued by Health Official to Residents and City Users of Cisterns.

Because of the danger of polluted surface water seeping into open cisterns, Dr. Siffritt, county health commissioner, today urged residents of rural districts to boil all water being used for domestic purposes.

The health commissioner also recommended that city residents who draw their water from cisterns follow a like precaution.

A suggestion from the state health department and a report of six new cases of typhoid fever in a neighboring city prompted Dr. Siffritt to issue the warning.

Break up of winter, especially of such a severe winter as the one just closing is likely to have an adverse effect on domestic water supply particularly that in small communities and rural districts. He said. "Tastes odors and color may or may not be harmful but it is advisable to adopt boiling as a safety measure."

Dr. Siffritt said that if cisterns will follow the suggestion until it is certain possible danger is completely removed. In many cases of intestinal disorder with their usually high percentage of deaths will be prevented.

Waldo Man Hurt as Car Hits Tree

WALDO O. March 19—Clark Hiesley, Waldo filling station operator, suffered three broken ribs and a new car he had driven only 200 miles was badly damaged in an accident caused by a icy pavement last midnight in Waldo.

Mr. Hiesley said he was returning home from Marion and that on route the Waldo telephone office car skidded on a tree and struck a tree.

A light coupe which it was reported belonged to a C.C. worker was found this morning in front of the Williams home on the main street. The car apparently had skidded on the ice at a junction and run into a tree. The steering wheel was damaged. It was towed to a Norton garage shortly before noon.

Married Comrades

Madge is Disturbed By Rumor to Phone Mrs. Ticer.

THE ASSISTANCE of Mrs. Ticer on seeing her father. The words which the nurse had just spoken to her for an instant without breath to reply Mrs. Ticer's mind was the most unobtrusive of women most considerate in illness. As far as the nurse's father was ill enough to be a trained nurse—this being the father of the nurse's father—she would have been deemed of any one to see a person so sick.

She could call daily to inquire about such neighbors she would bring all sorts of cooked delicacies for their delectation but unless at the urgent request of a member of the household she would not attempt to visit a patient.

Just could have happened to have her change a lifetime tenet? Or was it possible that I had misgotten the nurse's words?

I surely could not have heard you aright! I said. Did you say that Mrs. Ticer has been insisting on seeing her father?

Yes, that is what I said, she answered. You seem surprised.

I am, I said. It is utterly untrue. Mrs. Ticer if you had said Mrs. Ticer—I paused tentatively.

But I didn't, she replied decidedly. It was the lady herself not her husband or her son although they both have been here too every day inquiring anxiously about their father.

They are all very fond of him, I said. Surely for I was still trying to reconcile this action of Mrs. Ticer's with my long experience of her unobtrusiveness.

Nothing something?

Yes but that does not appear to be the reason for her insistence upon seeing him, she replied. She does not say anything definite. In fact she gave me the impression that she was hiding something or at least was unwilling to tell me her real reason for wishing to see him.

And she also has been very persistent in asking when you were to be expected. She asked me to let her know the instant I arrived but of course I told her I could not do that unless she directed me to do so. I pointed out however that as soon as you came I would tell you that she wished to get in touch with you.

And now that you have fulfilled your promise I said smiling at her. I think I would better let her phone her at once that I am home. Then I can tell what it is she wishes.

I suppose you ought to know, I said a bit nervously that your mother-in-law has been very resentful of Mrs. Ticer's inquiries.

She won't hear me tell phone, I returned quickly. I'll just slip up in ten or fifteen minutes to the telephone in my other room. It is not connected with this telephone although he also has an extension and I am no possibility can hear me up there.

That will be wise, she said in a relieved tone and I hurried a mental guess that with Katie, my mother-in-law and Mrs. Ticer her lot for the few days since my departure could not have been described as a bed of roses.

Phonics Mrs. Ticer.

What can I do while you are gone, she asked.

I looked into the pots simmering on the stove and made a quick decision.

Nothing save set the table, I said. Katie appears to have everything in readiness and I can tend to everything when I come down again.

I'll go at the table at once, she said and I hurried up the rear stairs to my father's room, locking the door behind me.

I had not been in it of course since I dined with him alone there only a little while before he left the farmhouse. His erect journey was so fraught with danger that we both knew it might be our last meeting. I had left for the moon landing a few hours later with Katharine Mary, the children and the man Williams, whom my father had deputed to guard us and had not come to his room again.

I stood motionless for several seconds after I locked the door, fighting the rising tide of grief.

MAKE HER SCHOOL OR PARTY PROCK IN YOUTHFUL CAPELET STYLE.

"Prettiest at the party" and she wears an adorable capelet-sleeved frock to show her playmates just how smart a little girl can look in this new and popular style. Such an easy pattern to follow, too, for as you see, those wee small capelets are cut all-in-one with the bodice yokes, and together make her pretty face. Best of all, you'll realize two patterns for the price of one when you choose this style, for there's a pattern for dainty pants included, to wear with this or other frocks. Swirls, dainty or batiste are nice for parties or Sunday best and trim with pinky bows instead of buttons; sturdy broadcloth, percale or ginghams are school or play-time dependables.

Pattern 2698 is available in sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6 takes 2 1/2 yds. 36-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.
